Parking

Once employees have completed the security clearance process and are issued a Naval Base Pass, they can request a parking pass which allows them to park on site, free of charge.

Portsmouth Naval Base Property Trust

The Trust was established by English Heritage and the Ministry of Defence in the 1980's to take on responsibility for the preservation and re-use of historic buildings and historic vessels principally, but not exclusively, associated with the Royal Navy. Over a 30 year period it has invested over £100 million pounds in transforming Portsmouth Historic Dockyard into one of the leading tourist attractions in the UK.

The Trust has been preserving historic vessels since the early 1990's and now has one of the largest collections of military related craft. More recently the Trust succeeded in obtaining a grant from the Chancellor's LIBOR Fund to create a "Memorial Flotilla" – a collection of fully operational craft representing those which took part in the defence of the realm throughout the 20th century.

The International Boatbuilding Training College began training students in Lowestoft in 1975. The College's owners, in partnership with the Portsmouth Naval Base Property Trust (PNBPT), established the International Boatbuilding Training College Portsmouth as an independent charity in Portsmouth Historic Dockyard. In 2017 ownership of the College transferred to PNBPT. This has enabled full integration of the College with the Trust's Historic Boat Collection and wider conservation activities.

IBTC Portsmouth

Our Ethos

IBTC Portsmouth is dedicated to preserving traditional boatbuilding skills by introducing new generations to the art. We train students to the highest standards of craftsmanship and instil in them a sense of pride in their work.

We equip our students for futures in the traditional boatbuilding and restoration industry, training them to an unparalleled breadth of knowledge and experience, whilst encouraging the highest standards of professionalism.

There is no one way to build a boat. The IBTC Portsmouth course not only provides training in a variety of construction methods, but has been designed to develop students' problem solving and spatial reasoning skills, equipping them with the versatility vital for meeting the unique challenges presented by each traditional construction and restoration project.

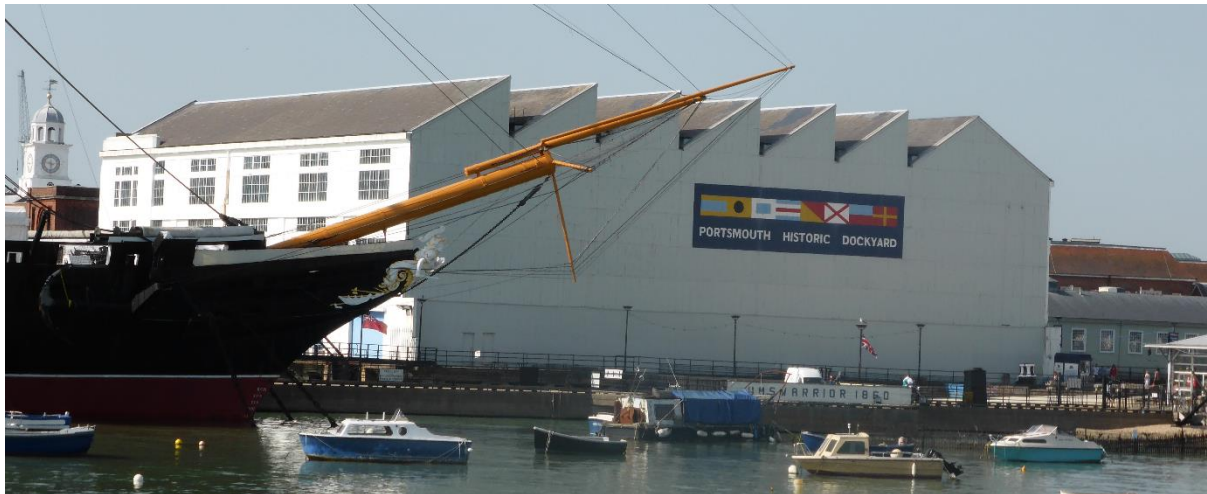

The Course

Our joinery module equips students with the hand tool skills required for boatbuilding. Students then move to boat work on the main floor, using both hand and static power tools. The College curates a wide variety of real, operational new builds and selected restoration projects of different sizes ready for student training tasks. This ensures that students gain experience of each stage, on craft from different era, constructed using a variety of techniques.

The course is principally a practical one, but also includes lectures on boatbuilding theory and opportunities for project management, which provide a greater depth and breadth of understanding of the construction process.

Facilities

IBTC Portsmouth is based in Boathouse 4, a 3,500 square metre boatshed in Portsmouth Historic Dockyard built in 1939. The building was redeveloped by PNBPT in 2015 with funding from the Heritage Lottery Fund and the Regional Growth Fund. It now houses a custom-designed boatbuilding training facility - equipped with joinery, varnish and machine shops, a library, and a large main boatbuilding floor. Boathouse 4 is home to the Portsmouth Naval Base Property Trust's collection of historic small naval craft, which provide real and valuable heritage restoration projects for student training.

The City of Portsmouth

Portsmouth is the only island city in the United Kingdom, mainly built on Portsea Island, a flat, low-lying island measuring 9 square miles in area, just off the south-east coast of Hampshire.

Portsmouth is located 70 miles south-west of London and 19 miles south-east of Southampton. The city has several mainline railway stations that connect to Brighton, Cardiff, London Victoria and London Waterloo, amongst other lines in southern England. Southampton Airport is also within easy reach. Portsmouth International Port is a commercial cruise ship and ferry port for international destinations. The port is the second busiest in the United Kingdom after Dover, handling around three million passengers a year.

Her Majesty's Naval Base, Portsmouth is one of three operating bases in the United Kingdom for the British Royal Navy. Portsmouth Naval Base is part of the city of Portsmouth, located on the eastern shore of Portsmouth Harbour, north of the Solent and the Isle of Wight. Adjacent is Portsmouth Historic Dockyard, home to the finest maritime heritage in the world, including the historic ships HMS Victory, HMS Warrior 1860, Mary Rose and M.33.
